About LA Lloyd:

As early as he can remember, LA Lloyd has always had a love for music. He was raised on rock and roll and outlaw country. Since he was not a musician, Lloyd found another means to surround himself with music on a daily basis: Radio. At age 16, Lloyd began his career in radio at a small AM station in North Carolina while still attending High School. He went on to earn his BA degree in Radio/TV/Film from Western Carolina University. During that time, he was Program Director and hosted a daily show on WWCU FM, the campus radio station. He got his first big break in commercial radio working at WKZQ FM, a rock station in Myrtle Beach, SC. It was during that period that Lloyd befriended many rock bands and musicians. He loved hanging out with them and enjoyed the rock and roll lifestyle.

Over the next two decades, Lloyd went on to host shows at rock stations in Virginia Beach, San Antonio and Austin. His consistently dominant ratings won him national recognition and his own syndicated radio show, "LA Lloyd's Rock Countdown," which is now heard every weekend on dozens of rock stations across the country. Now, Lloyd has teamed up with avdeli.com's new syndicated radio division – the Sun City Cafe` Radio Network as host of the weekly presentation of Notorious 90s! Lloyd continues to host Rock Countdown and man his post as Program Director of KLBJ-FM in Austin, Texas.
